

Expanded Interiors

Bringing contemporary site-specific fine-art practice to Roman houses at Herculaneum and Pompeii

TEACHING RESOURCES

Pompeii

Expanded Interiors

Bringing contemporary site-specific fine-art practice to Roman houses at Herculaneum and Pompeii

Pompeii, View of the Vesuvius from the Forum (Photo: R. Morris)

Expanded Interiors

Bringing contemporary site-specific fine-art practice to Roman houses at Herculaneum and Pompeii

Pompeii, View of Via dell'Abbondanza from the Forum (Photo: R. Morris)

Expanded Interiors

Bringing contemporary site-specific fine-art practice to Roman houses at Herculaneum and Pompeii

Pompeii, House of the Cryptoporticus from Via dell'Abbondanza. The arrow marks the main entrance to the house (Photo: T. Ravasi)

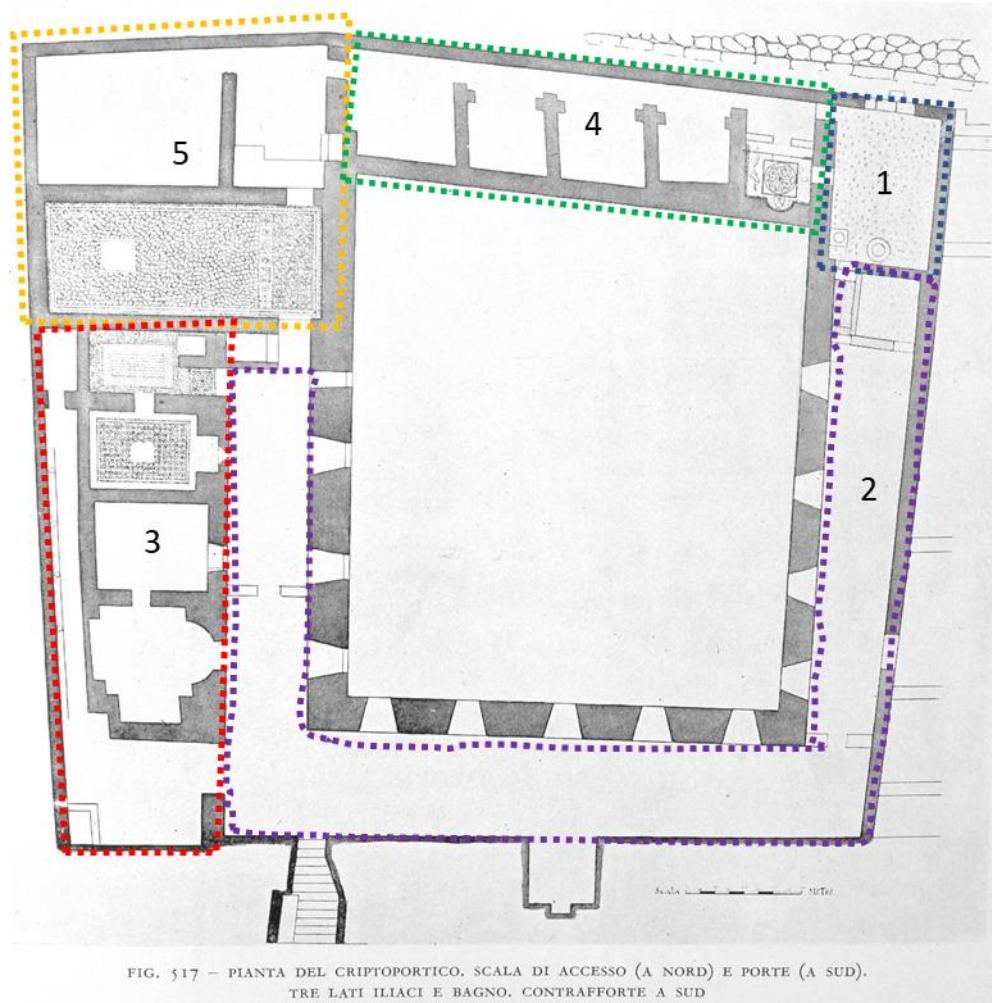

Expanded Interiors

Bringing contemporary site-specific fine-art practice to Roman houses at Herculaneum and Pompeii

Pompeii. Back entrance to the House of the Cryptoporticus from Vicolo del Menandro
(Photo T. Ravasi).

Five sets of spaces with different functions:

- 1 – Vestibule, distributes traffic towards the oecus and to the cryptoporticus
- 2 – Cryptoporticus, leading to the baths
- 3 – Hot and cold Baths
- 4 – “Ambienti rustici” with a small hot room at the entrance: unexplained function
- 5 – Reception/meeting room (oecus tricliniaris) and adjoining rooms

Expanded Interiors

Bringing contemporary site-specific fine-art practice to Roman houses at Herculaneum and Pompeii

Pompeii, House of the Cryptoporticus. Western corridor of the cryptoporticus (Photo T. Ravasi)

Newcastle
University

Expanded Interiors

Bringing contemporary site-specific fine-art practice to Roman houses at Herculaneum and Pompeii

Pompeii, House of the Cryptoporticus. Western corridor of the cryptoporticus (photo: T. Ravasi) ⁸

Expanded Interiors

Bringing contemporary site-specific fine-art practice to Roman houses at Herculaneum and Pompeii

Pompeii.
Northern
corridor of the House of the Cryptoporticus
(Photo T.
Ravasi)

Expanded Interiors

Bringing contemporary site-specific fine-art practice to Roman houses at Herculaneum and Pompeii

Pompeii, House of the Cryptoporticus. Detail of the panels with scenes from the Iliad (Photo T. Ravasi)

Newcastle
University

Expanded Interiors

Bringing contemporary site-specific fine-art practice to Roman houses at Herculaneum and Pompeii

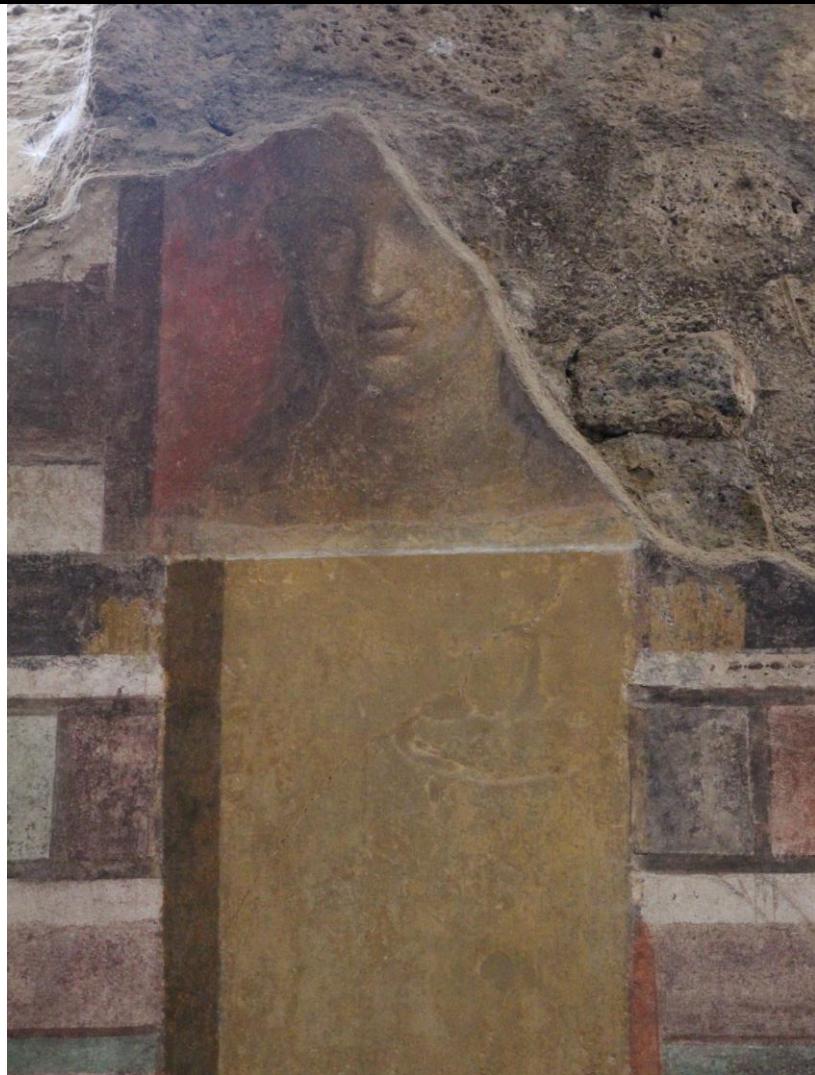

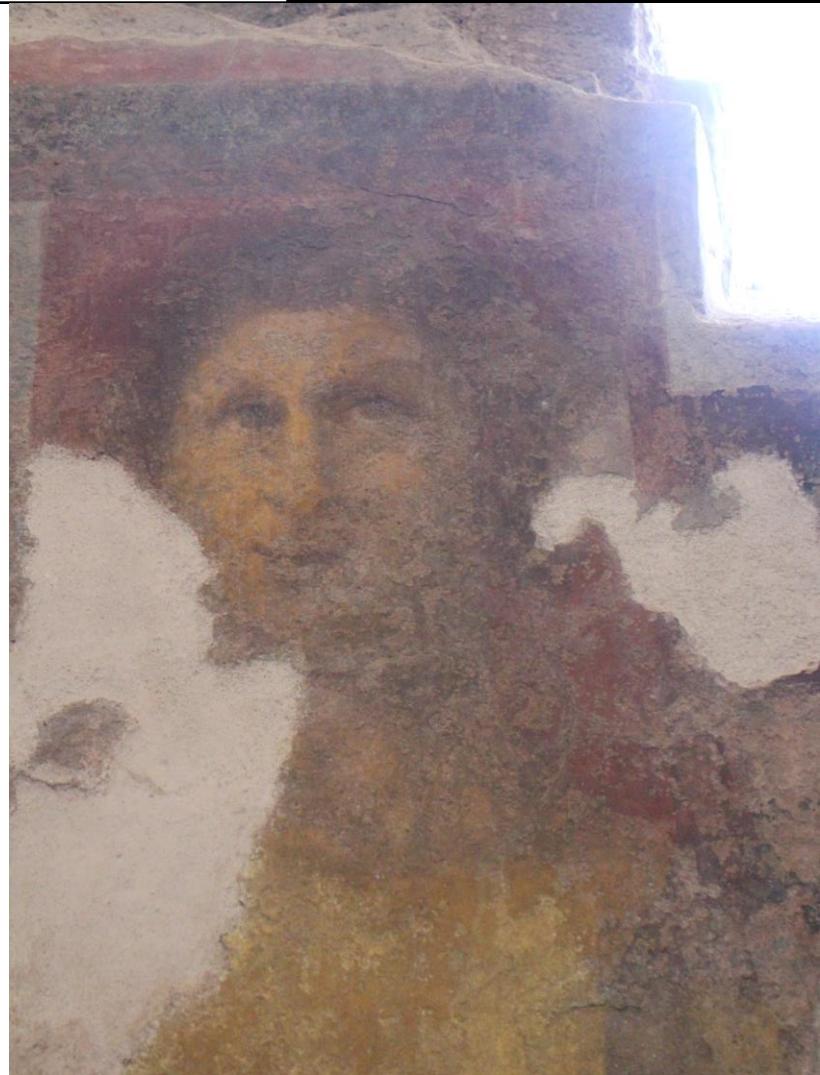

Pompeii, House of the Cryptoporticus. Detail of the panels with scenes from the Iliad (Photo T. Ravasi)

Newcastle
University

Expanded Interiors

Bringing contemporary site-specific fine-art practice to Roman houses at Herculaneum and Pompeii

Pompeii. House of the Cryptoporticus. Detail of one the caryatids in the cryptoporticus
(Photo T. Ravasi)

Pompeii, House of the Cryptoporticus. Remaining stucco decoration of the vault of the northern corridor of the cryptoporticus (photo: T. Ravasi).

Newcastle
University

Expanded Interiors

Bringing contemporary site-specific fine-art practice to Roman houses at Herculaneum and Pompeii

Pompeii, House of the Cryptoporticus. Spinazzola's reconstruction of the frescoes in the cryptoporticus.

Newcastle
University

Expanded Interiors

Bringing contemporary site-specific fine-art practice to Roman houses at Herculaneum and Pompeii

Pompeii, House of the Cryptoporticus. Wall decoration of the frigidarium (photo: T. Ravasi)

Newcastle
University

Expanded Interiors

Bringing contemporary site-specific fine-art practice to Roman houses at Herculaneum and Pompeii

Pompeii, House of the Cryptoporticus. Wall decoration of the frigidarium (photo: T. Ravasi)

Newcastle
University

Expanded Interiors

Bringing contemporary site-specific fine-art practice to Roman houses at Herculaneum and Pompeii

Pompeii, House of the Cryptoporticus. Floor decoration of the frigidarium (photo: T. Ravasi)

Newcastle
University

Expanded Interiors

Bringing contemporary site-specific fine-art practice to Roman houses at Herculaneum and Pompeii

Expanded Interiors

Bringing contemporary site-specific fine-art practice to Roman houses at Herculaneum and Pompeii

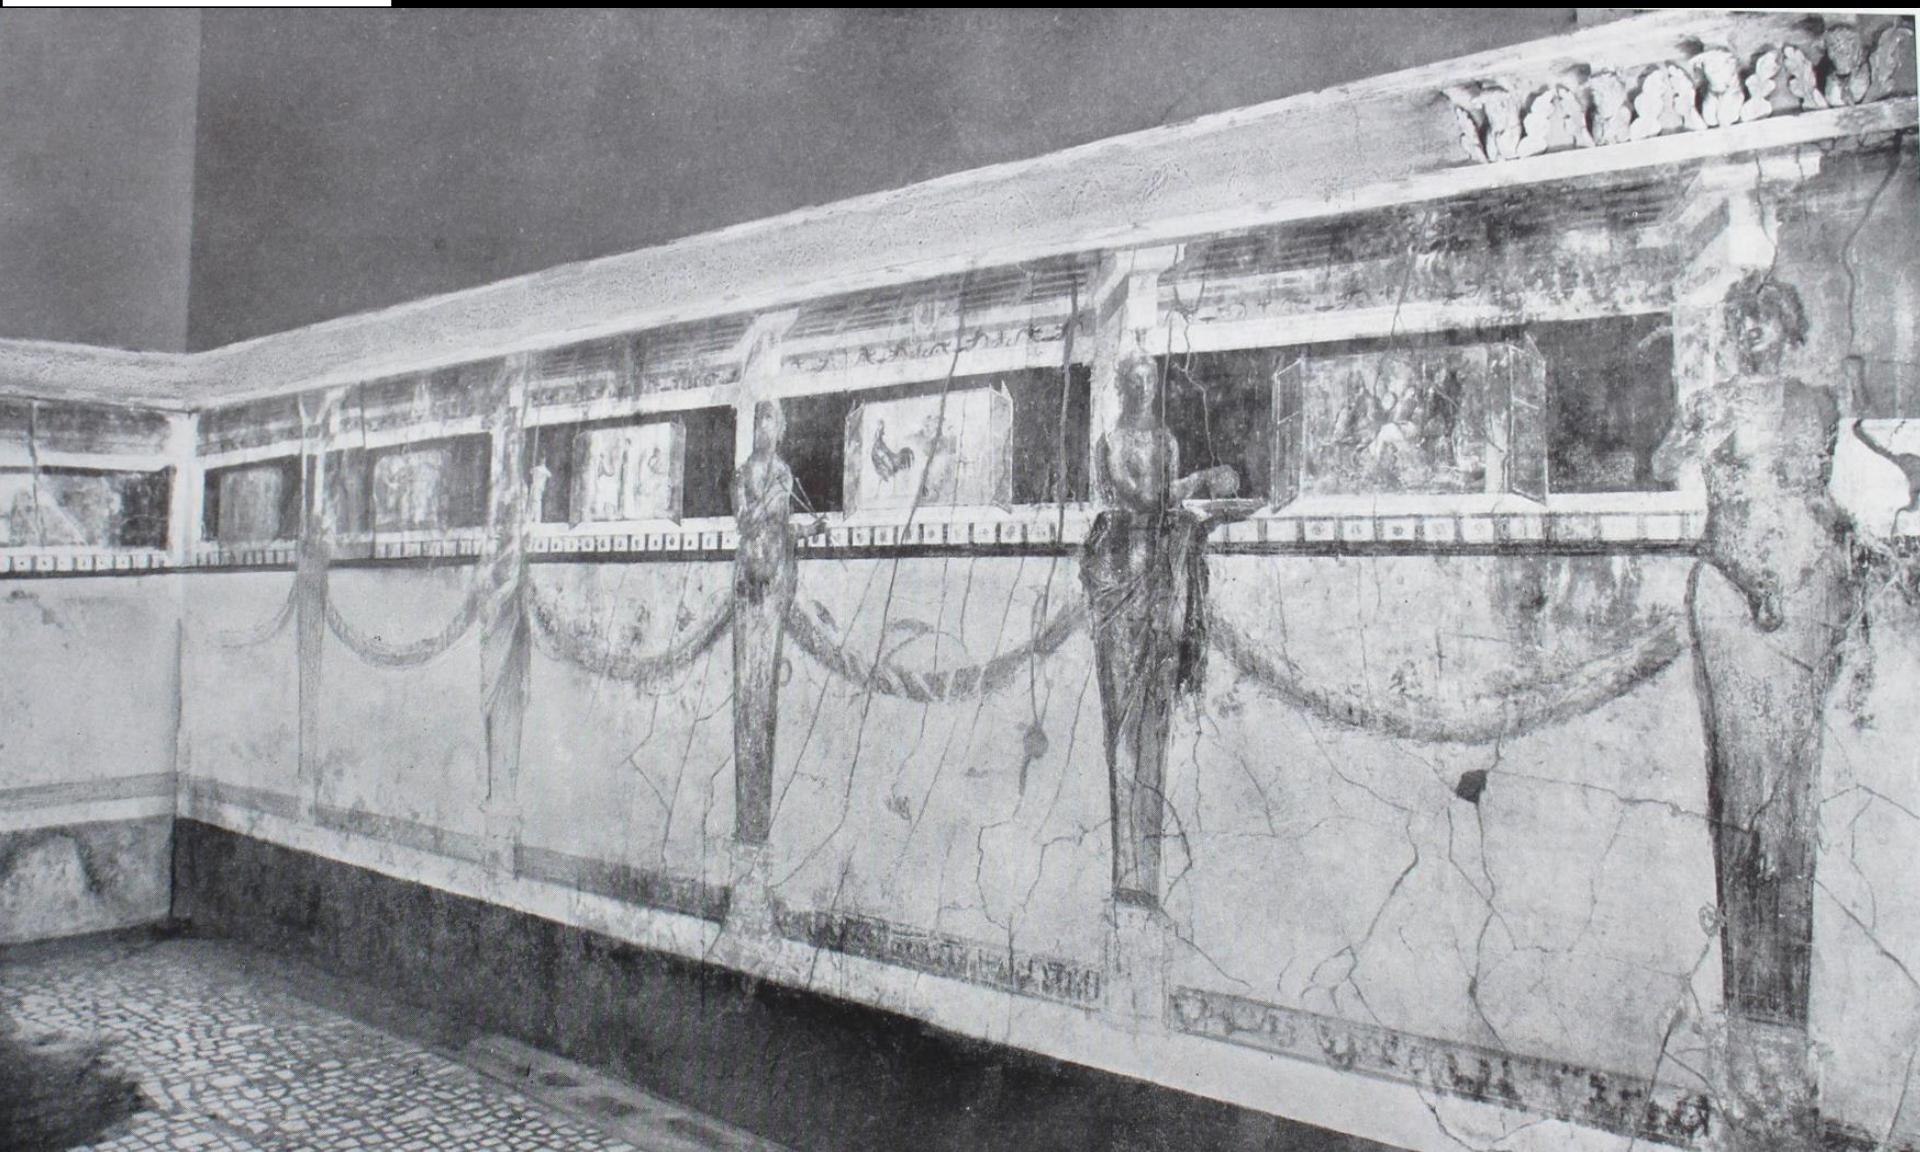

Pompeii, House of the Cryptoporticus. Garden. The arched windows mark the position of the cryptoporticus (photo: T. Ravasi)

Newcastle
University

Expanded Interiors

Bringing contemporary site-specific fine-art practice to Roman houses at Herculaneum and Pompeii

Pompeii, House of the Cryptoporticus, south wall of the "oecus tricliniaris" (from Spinazzola 1953)

Expanded Interiors

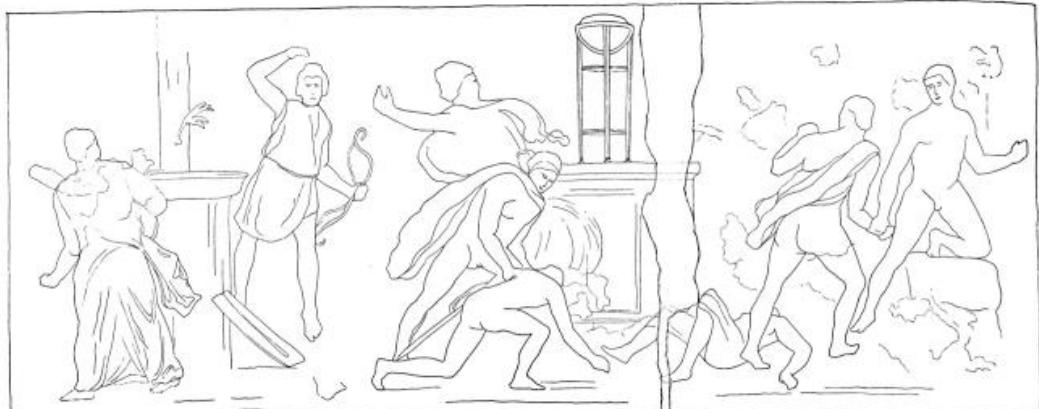

Bringing contemporary site-specific fine-art practice to Roman houses at Herculaneum and Pompeii

Pompeii, House of the Cryptoporticus.
Oecus tricliniaris. Death of the Niobids
(Spinazzola 1953)

On the left, Artemis drawing an arrow from her quiver while a woman dressed in a chiton runs away to the left.

At the centre, a man is helped by another male figure while a woman runs away with her arm raised in supplication. In the background is the tripod of Apollo ad Delphi.

At the right side of the picture, one figure lies on the ground, while another figure runs away, being led by the hand of a young naked man turned towards the viewer.

Expanded Interiors

Bringing contemporary site-specific fine-art practice to Roman houses at Herculaneum and Pompeii

Pompeii, House of the Cryptoporticus. Upper triclinium (photo: T. Ravasi).