(Version 2.0, 11.10.2021)

Resetting Services to Disabled Children

1. What is this study about?

- We are looking at how support from therapists, doctors and other services has changed during the pandemic. We want to find out if children and families are happy with the changes.
- We would like to know what you think the changes by taking part in a survey
- A survey is another name for a list of questions

2. What will I need to do in the study?

- The survey is online
- It will show you a list of things that might help services be better. You can tell us how important or not you think these things are by pressing buttons on the survey
- Your parents can help you if you do not understand
- You will be asked to fill in the survey 3 times.

3. Do I have to take part in the study?

- You do not have to take part in the survey if you do not want to. You and your parents can decide.

4. Who will find out about me being in the study?

- All information about you will be kept private. This means we will not tell anyone your answers to the questions.

5. Will I get anything for taking part?

- We will not pay you any money for taking part. Your answers to the questionnaire may help other young children with disabilities.

6. What do I have to do now?

- If you would like to take part, let your parents know. They will be able to show you how to use the survey. If you do not want to be in the study, it is OK to say no. We won't be upset.

Ask your parents any questions that you want to, and they can ask us if they don't know the answer.
