

Overview of Enquiry 1: Great Fire of Tyneside

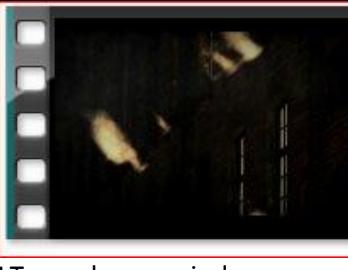

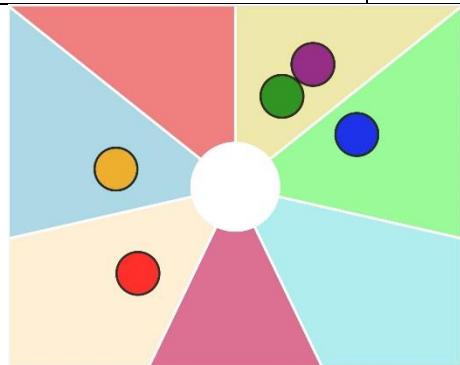

This is an overview of what happens in each chapter of this enquiry. Each column shows what will appear on each screen. Each numbered row is one chapter of the enquiry:

- introduction and setting questions (1a, 1b)
- travel back in time (1c)
- meet characters (2-6)
- travel forward in time (7a)
- conclusion and answering questions (7b).

The final (right) column in this document is a summary of what happens in each chapter, and what activities the characters set for the children.

Fireman

sparks video

Fireman Scott tells the children about how he and his team were called to fight the fire. He complains that residents got in the way, and wouldn't let him knock down their houses to stop the fire from spreading

John
Dobson

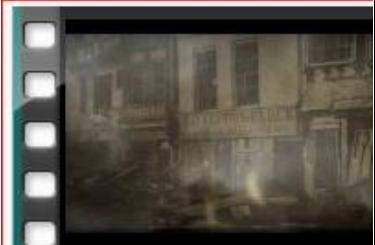

sparks video

John Dobson tells the children he's sad about his son's death. He blames the wool warehouse owner.

					John Dobson's task: look at the walls, spot the changes that were made when he and Richard Grainger redesigned this area of the city, and any later changes.
4 W ar eh ou se ow ne r					Edward Moore says there was a terrible accident in his wool and oil storage warehouse. He says he cares about the people who work for him, but he seems to care more about himself. He blames the firemen for not coming sooner.
					Edward Moore's task: on the tabletop, drag and rotate the shapes to build a tightly packed square, to try strategies he can use when he rebuilds his warehouse.

Sarah Goodfellow used to live on the quayside but her house was destroyed in the fire. She blames the council – they only care about rich people, and didn't pay for enough firemen to protect the poorer quayside residents.
