

TraPCAf virtual training series

STATISTICS 2: Correlation, Regression and Survival Analyses

Dr Jeremie Nsengimana, PhD

Senior Lecturer in Biostatistics, Newcastle University

Jeremie's research focuses on developing & applying methods of high-dimensional data analysis in translational biomedical science with a particular interest in biomarker and drug targets discovery. He holds a PhD in Statistical Genetics from the Catholic University of Louvain, Belgium. Jeremie lectures across various postgraduate programmes, is regularly invited to international Universities, and supervises dissertations.

FRIDAY 21ST MARCH 2025 12-2 GMT

jeremie.nsengimana@newcastle.ac.uk

<https://newcastleuniversity.zoom.us/j/81323197829>

FUTURE TOPICS

Health economics - 20th May

Statistics: session 3 - TBC

Topic suggestions welcome

www.linkedin.com/in/trapcaf-project

www.research.ncl.ac.uk/trapcaf

www.x.com/trapcaf_project

