Responsibility

Lack of communication: GPs don't understand all the data and information. They weren't enough to protect us. They have failed.

Professional, academic, and clinical bodies shirked responsibility.

MHRA

After 2008, there was more information and surgeons were more to blame.

Why were they so easily led? Maybe they were working for incentives and not listening to concerned voices.

Missed warnings.

Fear of retaliation: Hedging and defensive old school club when problems arise.

Mistakes happen, it's how people react.

Old paternalistic male culture.

The NHS has been caught up in this. They are losing out badly.

Money + share rule: it's a minefield.

Were there clinical trials?

Incorrect testing: Inaccuracy.

Lack of clarity.
